REVIVED

Every heart deserves more time

The Revived Pulse Foundation raises funds through impactful events to support patients who cannot afford life-saving cardiac rhythm interventions. By bringing communities and businesses together, we help restore heartbeats and give patients a second chance at life.

WHO WE ARE

In 2013, Faan Botha was given a second chance at life after suffering serious heart complications. Although life-saving treatment was available, it was financially out of reach.

Hope was restored when he received a donated pacemaker - a gift that gave him back his life. Inspired by this massive act of kindness, Faan and his wife, Elmari, founded the Revived Pulse Foundation in 2018 to help others access critical cardiac rhythm devices when they need them most.

At the Revived Pulse Foundation, our mission is to help heart patients not only survive but thrive. We want to ensure they can spend more time with their loved ones and experience life beyond their heart condition.
